

11TH GRADE ADVANCED PLACEMENT LANGUAGE & COMPOSITION SYLLABUS

CONTACT INFORMATION

Within this course, students will traverse and digest the material throughout four different units that consist of topics to prepare them for the AP Exam, such as: The Structure of Argument, Rhetorical Analysis, Research Synthesis, AP Language Test Preparation & The Human Experience. This course prepares students to take the AP Language & Composition exam in May, and is a dual credit course with Camden County College to earn credit for Composition 101. As a result, the class focuses on a study of rhetoric to develop core writing skills of summary, research, argument, analysis and synthesis. Students will read and analyze mostly non-fiction writing in various genres, primarily 20th century but including key pre-20th century texts. Students will also read a limited number of classic and contemporary fiction texts including Shakespeare and literary fiction of their choice. Students will work cooperatively and independently to practice skills of argument, analysis and synthesis in reading and writing through Socratic seminar, independent reading, journaling, essay writing and revising. Revision activities and writing conferences focus on grammatical convention to enhance clarity and achieve rhetorical purpose.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is "the unacknowledged use of another's means of expression and/or work product, whether published or unpublished, without proper credit through the use of quotation marks, citations and other customary means of identifying sources." This means copying the words or ideas of another without the proper form of academic documentation. There are two basic kinds of plagiarism: deliberate plagiarism and accidental plagiarism, equally serious. The most common act of deliberate plagiarism involves copying another person's work and passing it off as your own. The most common act of accidental plagiarism involves failing to provide the proper internal documentation for quoted, summarized, and/or paraphrased ideas from another person, even if the source is listed in a Works Cited/Reference page.

The Black Horse Pike School District maintains a firm stance regarding plagiarism. Academic repercussions will be determined in coordination with the classroom teacher, Supervisor, and/or Vice Principal. While the district realizes that Artificial Intelligence (such as ChatGTP) can be used as a tool for brainstorming and exploring personal topics of interest, it is important to use such tools responsibly and ethically. Regarding issues of academic dishonesty, students are not permitted to submit AI-generated work as their own. Additionally, using AI to evade plagiarism detection is unethical and a violation of academic integrity and the BHP Honor code. As AI is an emerging technology, the district will continue to evaluate its use in the classroom.
